

William Bartram

c. 1808 by Charles Wilson Peale
Courtesy of Independence National Park

Bartram House

Philadelphia, seen from Historic Bartram's Garden

Battery, Charleston

DEEP SOUTH REGION
WILLIAM BARTRAM TRAIL

TRACED 1773-1777

In 1765 John and William Bartram, naturalists, began an extended trail from Savannah through Georgia and left a legacy of impressions.

ERECTED BY
The Oleander District of the Garden Club of Georgia, Inc.
IN COOPERATION WITH
The Garden Club of Georgia, Inc.
The City of Savannah, Georgia

Savannah

Darien

Exploring the Great Buffalo Lick

St. Johns River

Paynes Prairie

Alligator mississippiensis

Nantahala River

Echeconnee Creek

Confluence of the Coosa and Tallapoosa Rivers

Louisiana State Capitol, Baton Rouge

Near Ashwood, Bladens County, NC

Franklinia, alatamaha

Pinckneya pubens

Sarracenia minor

Rhododendron minus

Elliottia racemosa

Ilex vomitoria

Befaria racemosa

Lupinus difusus

Ceratiola ericoides

Rhododendron calendulaceum

Magnolia fraseri

Hydrangea quercifolia

Aesculus parviflora

Hymenocallis coronaria

Heggies Rock, Columbia County

Cedar Key Scrub Preserve

Gopherus polyphemus

Grus canadensis pratensis

Tarflower and Georgia Plume

Grus Canadensis Pratensis

A Little Green Bittern (Green Heron?)

